Mickey Dora, the surfing king of Malibu, was born Miklos Dora in Hungary. His step father introduced him to the California surf scene where he quickly became the iconic surfing figure of the fifties and sixties.

The premier surf board designer, Greg Noll, created Mickey's signature board called "Da Cat" in 1966. Today, original vintage Greg Noll / Mickey Dora boards demand thousands of dollars and are highly sought after!

Mickey and his signature board gained notoriety appearing in many movies and TV shows that portrayed the surf culture.

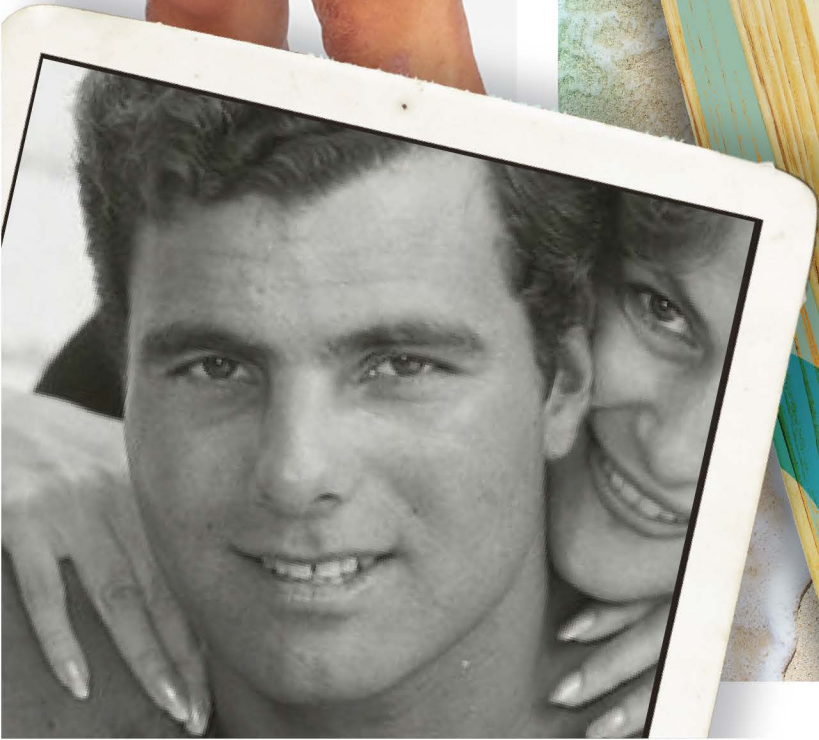

Mickey is a true icon of the surf lifestyle. He lived his life like he surfed; wild and carefree. Like he said, "I am here for the waves and nothing else."
