

THE LAST STRAW THE CAMEL GAME™

please don't break
the camel's back™

please don't break the camel's back™

The idea is simple...take turns adding colored "straw" sticks to the camels cargo bags and try not to be the one that BREAKS HIS BACK!

The game was launched in 1966 by the Schaper Manufacturing Company in Minnesota. The company, made famous by the Cootie game produced their games in their own US factory. They were known for sturdy plastic parts and flashy TV commercials.

This nostalgic game, affectionately known as "the camel game" not only brings back memories to older "kids" but provides that surprise ending that makes everyone laugh even when they lose the game!

circa 1972 packaging

THE LAST STRAW THE CAMEL GAME™

please don't break
the camel's back™

Retrobrands America, LLC

For Licensing
Inquiries Contact:

Jeffrey Kaplan, President

1771 Blount Road Suite 203 -
Pompano Beach FL 33069

(954) 203-3097

jeff@retrobrands.net
www.retrobrands.net